30000 Products, 11 Branches, 60 Years Experience

The beginning.

G. Fox was founded in the early 1960's as a family business and was run by Cecil Fox and his son Gerald.

With Gerald at the helm and fuelled by his energy and passion, a small family business blossomed in to one of South Africa's largest supplier and manufacturer of rags.

Growth, expansion, and getting personal.

The business widened its product range to include personal protective equipment (PPE), cleaning products, and paper products.

From rags to riches.

At the height of its rag production, G. Fox was the largest importer of second-hand clothing which was repurposed as rags in Africa.

The next chapter started with a devastating tragedy.

South Africa lost a dynamic force with the murder of Gerald Fox, in 2003, after which the company was bought by the Bidvest Group. As a member of South Africa's leading industrial conglomerate, G. Fox was empowered to attain new heights and unprecedented expansion.

Growing from strength to strength nationwide.

Under Bidvest, G. Fox merged with Commercial Sundries, a large distributor of paper products throughout South Africa. As a result, G. Fox was now a dominant player in the national space with branches in Johannesburg, Cape Town, Durban and Polokwane.

Building momentum and constructing a state-of-the-art facility.

This vibrant new phase culminated in the construction of a world-class facility in Johannesburg which set a new standard in the industry and incorporated a highly-successful cash and carry order offering.

An industry giant.

Bidvest-owned Giant Clothing was consolidated with G. Fox into a division called, Bidserv Industrial Products. In 2009, the Giant Clothing factory relocated to Swaziland from Malawi where a new, productive and cutting-edge factory was established.

The Swaziland factory has grown to over 750 machines, producing 18 000 garments a day, employing over 1 500 people. The consistent, dependable and reliable supply of work wear from the factory to the G. Fox branch network has proven to be a significant and meaningful value proposition to the G. Fox customer base.

Three more business acquisitions put G. Fox at number one.

During 2011, G. Fox acquired Alsafe (Pty) Ltd, and Multimerja (Pty) Ltd, both of which were leaders in their respective areas and product lines. The incorporation of these businesses into the group has firmly established G. Fox as South Africa's largest supplier of PPE, cleaning chemicals, paper and industrial consumable products. In 2019, G. Fox acquired a specialist glove business called ISP in Port Elizabeth giving us a new glove niche opportunity.

From a house to a household name.

From its modest beginnings in a house in Kensington, Johannesburg, the company plays a leading role as a proud partner in the Southern African industrial supply chain.

The business includes a branch network of ten fully-stocked branches around the country, 12 000 active customers and over 1 800 staff members.

G. Fox offers a comprehensive customisation programme that spans simple branding on garments to fully bespoke garments manufactured to your specification.

We now own 2 x eight head embroidery machines and have employed competent design staff to assist with customers requirements. All of this now means improved delivery times on all orders, big or small.

Please remember that lead times may differ depending on the process used and the size of the order. Please enquire when ordering.

Branding:

There are various types of branding offered by G. Fox:

Screen Printing:

This process involves printing on the actual garment. Cost is determined by the volume of garments printed, the size of the print & number of colours in the print. A set up charge is incurred for each run & this option is preferable for larger volumes.

Heat seal logo:

This process involves the heat sealing of a pre printed logo onto the garment. This is ideal for garments in the food processing industry. This is a very durable and long lasting method. A set up charge is incurred for each run & this option is preferable for larger volumes.

Embroidery:

This process involves embroidering directly onto the garment. The cost is determined by the stitch count of the embroidery & the size of the design. As there is no initial set up cost this is the preferred option for smaller volumes & for more textured garments.

Badges:

This process involves printing the logo on a special piece of fabric using a process called sublimation. The cost is determined by the volume printed & the size of the badge. The badge is then sewn onto the garment. This process allows for flexibility in the supply of garments, as badges can be printed in advance & sewn on as demand requires.

What do you need:

In order to obtain an accurate quote & to ensure the quality of your work please ensure that you have the following:

- A high resolution JPEG of the artwork you require
- An estimate of quantity
- Colours required (Pantone numbers if possible)
- Placement of branding on the garment
- Completed Sign-off form from G. Fox confirming all details of the job.

Please remember that lead times may differ depending on the process used & the size of the order. Please enquire when ordering.

Reflective tape:

G. Fox offers the service of having reflective tape sewn onto garments that require high visibility. The following is required in order to determine your quote & your finished product.

Type of tape:

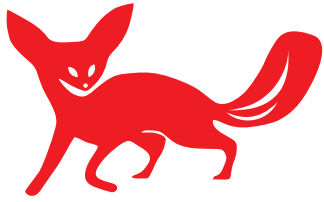

The standard tape used for conti suits is a 50mm silver lime tape. This industrial tape meets the required standards. Flame retardant tape, 50mm silver tape & prismatic tape are all available on request

Placement of tape:

This photograph indicates the standard positioning of tape on the arms & legs. If a different placement is required this needs to be specified to your G. Fox sales representative.
